TABLE OF EQUIVALENT BASIS WEIGHTS

Figures in bold are basis weights.

All weights are for reams of 500 sheets.

The tables below show basic sizes and basic weights for seven categories of paper, and indicate what the equivalent weight would be if you went from one category to another. For example, the table shows that a 100 lb. book paper is roughly equivalent to a 55 lb. cover, a 68 lb. vellum bristol, and a 91 lb. tag.

REAM WEIGHT & M WEIGHT OF IRREGULAR SIZES

To calculate the ream weight of any sheet size:

1. Multiply the sheet length by the sheet width.
2. Multiply that figure by the basis weight.
3. Divide that figure by the number of square inches associated with the basis weight.
4. Round that figure off to the nearest one-half.

Example.

To calculate the ream weight for 20 x 30, basis 80 lb. cover:

1. Multiply 20 x 30 = 600
2. Multiply 600 x 80 = 48,000
3. Divide 48,000 by 520 (see following chart) = 92.3077
4. Round 92.3077 off = 92.5

To calculate the M weight, multiply 92.5 by 2 = 185 M

BULK DETERMINATION SCALE

Fold a sheet of paper twice thus making four thicknesses or eight pages. Read with a micrometer/caliper the thickness of those four sheets in thousandths of an inch (points). In the column headed "Pages per Inch" you will find the number of pages per inch corresponding to the micrometer reading.

Example:

You need to find the number of pages per inch for a book consisting of a sheet of paper, four thicknesses of which measure .020 (20 points). In the column headed "Pages Per Inch," opposite .020, you will find the answer - 400 pages.

BULK DETERMINATION FORMULA

To determine the bulk of a given number of pages: Caliper eight pages then multiply the amount of points by the total number of pages for which you wish to determine the bulk. Divide this figure by eight.

Example:

Eight pages caliper .02. What will 500 pages bulk? Multiply .020 by 500. Divide this answer (10) by eight = 1.25. Five hundred pages will bulk approximately one and one-quarter inches.

$$\frac{(.020) \times (500)}{8} = \frac{10.0}{8} = 1.25$$

To determine the number of pages per inch: Caliper eight pages then divide the number of points into eight.

Example:

Eight pages caliper .020. How many pages per inch? Divide eight by .020. Eight divided by .020 is 400. Four hundred pages will bulk approximately one inch.

$$\frac{8}{.020} = 400$$

HOW TO ESTIMATE THE WEIGHT OF A ROLL OF PAPER

1. Take the diameter of the roll and square it.
2. Take the diameter of the core and square it.
3. Subtract the squared core diameter from the squared roll diameter. (This deduction is made because there is no paper in the core volume in the roll.)
4. Take this figure and multiply it by the width of the roll.
5. Take this figure and multiply it by the appropriate factor.

Example:

What is the approximate weight of a roll of bond paper that has a 36-inch diameter roll, a 3-inch core, and is 30 inches wide?

1. The diameter squared = 1296.
2. The core squared = 9.
3. Subtract core diameter (9) from roll diameter (1296) = 1287.
4. Multiply this figure (1287) by roll width (30) = 38,610.
5. Multiply 38,610 by the appropriate factor (.021) 810.81, or, approximately 811 pounds per roll.

HOW TO ESTIMATE THE NUMBER OF LINEAL FEET IN A PAPER ROLL

To determine the number of lineal feet in a roll of paper:

1. Find the basic size of the category of paper.
2. Multiply the length times the width of the basic size.
3. Multiply this figure by the weight of the paper roll (pounds).
4. Multiply this figure by 500.
5. Multiply the basis weight of the paper times 12 times the width of the paper roll.
6. Divide the number discovered in Step 4 by the number discovered in Step 5.

Example:

How many lineal feet in a 36-inch wide roll of 20# basis weight paper?

1. Basic size is 17 x 22.
2. Multiply 17 x 22 = 374.
3. Multiply 374 by the roll weight (811 pounds) = 303,314.
4. Multiply 303,314 by 500 = 151,657,000.
5. Multiply the basis weight (20) times the width of the roll (36) times (12) 8,640.
6. 151,657,000 divided by 8,640 = 17,552.893, or 17,553 lineal feet.

$$\frac{(17 \times 22) \times 811 \times 500}{20 \times 36 \times 12} = \frac{151,657,000}{8,640} = 17,552.893$$

- The time, in hours, the paper should stand unopened in order to come into balance with room temperature.

Note: To determine the cubic volume of paper on the skid, multiply the length times the width times the height (in inches) and divide by 1,728.

From the Graphic Arts Technical Foundation, Technical Bulletin No. 8:

"If paper is unwrapped while cold and allowed to stand in the pressroom, it will very quickly develop a bad case of waviness because its low temperature chills the air immediately surrounding the pile and raises the relative humidity to approximately the saturation point, or 100 percent. Under these conditions, the edges of the sheet may pick up 10 or 12 percent of moisture before the pile warms up. As the temperature of the pile rises, this excess of moisture will be partially given off, but in the process the moisture content of the paper at the edges will follow the desorption curve and will not return to the same moisture content as the rest of the sheet. While the waviness may be reduced somewhat, it will not disappear."
